

GUESSING WHO WILL WIN OUT

Senatorial Vote Has Now Become A Guessing Contest For The Public To Answer.

AUTOMOBILE MEASURE IS KILLED

Would Practically Have Restricted The Choo Choo Cars To Running Like Ice Wagons If Teamsters So Desired.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 24.—Patience is fast becoming a virtue in the senatorial fight. In fact, the senatorial squabble is about all of importance that one finds in Madison these days. Day by day the joint ballot is taken as prescribed by law, night by night the caucuses are held according to the custom of the republican party, with no variation in the results. The only remarkable feature is that the candidates are trying to crowd each other out of the race by alienating the radical support of the other. They exclude his men and themselves from the daily conferences of candidates and try and belittle his chances as much as possible.

Vote the Same
The vote today showed no change except the three democrats who have been absent voted for Bird. The situation does not appear to clear at all. Stephenson still hopes against hope and that La Follette will do something for him. Lenroot sticks to the determination of a bulldog or on the advice of La Follette. Cooper trusts the lightning will fly his way and keeps his rod ready for the first sign of a storm. Hatten is complacent and believes ultimately he will be chosen. Esch is not nervous and trusts he can hold his men in line as he has in the past.

Good Work
In the assembly this morning the Thomas bill, a radical, almost anti-automobile measure, was killed. It took two hours and forty-five minutes to preach the funeral oration, but when it was over the mourners were found to number 32, while the victorious element counted 63. Sprague of Walworth read the obituary notice, saying all he could in favor of the measure that was so obnoxious to automobile owners and lovers of the rights of mankind.

MANY SCHOOLS HAVE ALREADY ENTERED

Interscholastic Field Day of Beloit College Promises to Be Interesting.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., April 24.—Entries for the interscholastic field meet to be held in Beloit under the auspices of the college May 4th begin to come in goodly numbers. Thus far Rockford, Evansville, Beloit, Joliet and Lake View, Chicago, have signified they will have track teams present and doubtless many others will enter later. The West Side Presbyterian church has purchased a lot for a new structure, but do not expect to build this year.

OUTLAW LEAGUE IN THE NATIONAL ASSN.

Tri-State Organization Opens Season Under Protection of Big Combine.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Johnstown, Pa., April 24.—The Tri-State League, famous for several years past as an outlaw organization and a thorn in the side of every club manager in the big leagues, today opened its first season under the protection and as a member of the national association. The opening games are scheduled as follows: Altoona at Johnstown, Harrisburg at Williamsport, Lancaster at York, and Wilmington at Trenton.

FITZGERALD VERSUS INDIAN JOE GREGG

Brooklyn Veteran and Promising Aborigine Will Meet at Indianapolis.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Indianapolis, Ind., April 24.—Willie Fitzgerald of Brooklyn, and Indian Joe Gregg of Spokane, are slated to furnish the ten-round wind-up at tonight's show of the Indianapolis Athletic Club. The match appears to be one of the best ever arranged for Indianapolis. Both principals are light welterweights and both are exceptionally fast. Fitzgerald has the better record by reason of his longer experience in the ring, although the Indian has been boxing like a champion during the last several months, or ever since he made his appearance in the East.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Bloomington, Ill., April 24.—In a collision between a freight train and a light engine on the Alton road at Dwight early today Engineer Bruce Goodman of Dwight and Fireman C. F. Taylor of Bloomington were killed, and Fireman Brown of Dwight fatally injured. Engineer Charles Tyner of Bloomington was also seriously hurt.

SCHUMAKER BETTER: TAKES SOLID FOOD

Reports from Mercy Hospital This Afternoon Are Most Encouraging.
Late this afternoon word was had from Mercy hospital that George Schumaker is still holding his own and if anything slightly better. He was given solid food today for the first time since his injury last Thursday night. Dr. Wayne says that while the man's condition continues to improve he does not hold out any hope for his recovery. Today he is suffering more pain than he has for days and is uneasy. His circulation is very bad, although a slight control of his lower limbs has come.

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION GATES WILL OPEN FRIDAY

President Roosevelt Will Officiate, And So to Governors And Foreign Diplomats Will Participate In Exercises.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Norfolk, Va., April 24.—The gates of the Jamestown Tercentenary Exposition will be thrown open to the public day after tomorrow. That the success of the stupendous enterprise will justify the most sanguine expectations of its promoters is indicated in many directions, and they are looking ahead to a season of unexampled prosperity. Hundreds of letters received daily by the department of publicity and promotion, by the hotels and by business houses support this optimistic view of the future of the exposition.

Virginia is proud of her achievement. She is proud of it not alone because it is evidence of her own wealth and prosperity, but because it represents the highest form of American enterprise, energy and courage. The exposition with its beautiful white buildings and its priceless collection of exhibits gathered from every part of the country is a monument to the ever living faith of a people in the destiny of Old Dominion.

The program of the opening day exercises is complete, and as it now stands it is elaborate enough to please everybody. President Roosevelt will officiate, governors of states and the diplomatic representatives of foreign countries will participate, and there will be a military and naval display the like of which never has been seen before in American waters.

At present every effort of the management is being concentrated on the work of transferring exhibits from the railroad yards to the exposition grounds, superintending their setting up in the several buildings and preparing for the first rush of visitors that will follow the opening of the big fair.

Norfolk, Hampton Roads and vicinity are preparing for an invasion of visitors, the advance guard of which is already arriving, and which will continue until the exposition gates are permanently closed. Nobody has undertaken to estimate closely just how many persons will be attracted to Jamestown between May and November, but in a general way the financiers of the enterprise expect the gate receipts to eclipse the figures attained by any of the expositions heretofore held in America outside of the big fairs at Chicago and St. Louis.

The arrangements that have been made with the railways reaching here, and which have connections to the north and south and to the Pacific coast, are satisfactory to all concerned. The excursion rates that will be charged, travelers who desire to visit the exposition are, within reach of nearly everybody's purse, and they will doubtless serve to encourage thousands to undertake the trip. The fact that no section of the country is richer in historical associations, that many of the most stirring events of the three great wars in which the United States has engaged took place hereabouts, and that it is within easy distance of the national capital, of Philadelphia, Atlantic City, New York and other points of interest are expected to contribute largely to the attendance of visitors from all parts of the country and particularly from the west.

Outward and visible signs that the opening of the exposition is at hand are abundant. Hotels are filling with visitors and the public buildings and business houses are putting on gala attire. The waters of Hampton Roads are dotted with warships of every description and flying the flags of half a dozen nations. More than a score of these great fighting machines are now at anchor in the roads and nearly every hour brings additions to the fleet.

The military forces that are to take part in the opening are already encamped at the exposition grounds. The principal contingent is the 23d Infantry from Madison Barracks and Fort Ontario, New York.

General Grant, who has been placed in command of all the troops at the exposition, has detailed Capt. J. L. Hines, 23d Infantry, as chief quartermaster; Captain Julius N. Killam, commissary, as chief commissary, and Major Charles E. Woodruff, surgeon, as chief surgeon and chief sanitary officer at the camp at Jamestown.

In addition to the regular troops a number of companies of state militia will take part in Friday's exercises attending the opening of the exposition. The governors of the several states who are coming to the opening will be attended by their staffs, which will add to the military display. During the summer the military forces of several of the southeastern states and the cadets of many military academies throughout the east and south will successively occupy the permanent military camp to be established in connection with the exposition.

Presbyterian Church Entertainment Tuesday Evening,

April 30th.

Mrs. Emma D. Lemmon, a graduate of the Boston School of Oratory and a very successful entertainer in the larger eastern cities will give an entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church. She will be assisted by Mrs.
John Rexford and the Janesville Symphony Orchestra. The program will consist of readings, impersonations, and music. The entire proceeds go to the fund of the Ladies' Society and every member and friend are cordially invited to be present and enjoy the evening's entertainment.

TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 30, 8
O'CLOCK.—ADMISSION, 25c.

Among the many good words which those who have heard Mrs. Lemmon say are the following from "The Morning Daily, St. Ignace, Mich.:

"Emma D. Lemmon's entertainment at the M. E. church attracted a large audience. Her voice is wonderfully flexible, smooth, bell-like and she has it in perfect control. Her presence and fine, she is beautiful and dresses in simple elegance. Every gesture is made in perfect naturalness, and so easy is her manner that from the first criticism is dispensed and one settles down for an hour's enjoyment. So well pleased was the audience with Mrs. Lemmon that at the instance of Lawyer Hoffman a vote was taken to give a second entertainment on Tuesday night and again the house was crowded by an appreciative audience.
Mrs. Lemmon came among us a stranger but she left with many admiring friends."

UNION BANQUET

LAST MEETING OF YEAR IN Y. M.
C. A. AUDITORIUM.

LADIES GUESTS OF HONOR

Delectable Program. Followed Delicious Supper. Served on Pre-tily Decorated Tables.

With the ladies as their guests, members of the Social Union club brought their fifth season to a crowning end in a banquet at the Y. M. C.
A. auditorium last evening. It was the second annual "ladies' night" and the success of last year was repeated.
When at six-thirty o'clock the Janesville Symphony orchestra played the opening march two hundred six ladies and gentlemen gathered about the festive board. The five long tables that entirely filled the room were prettily decorated with ostrich plume fans, the specie propagated by Edward Amorphol of this city. Light came from a score of handsome electric lamps, arranged for the occasion.
All was a tribute to the guests of honor.

Young Ladies Served.
The supper, which had been prepared by the ladies' auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A., was served by twenty-one young ladies assisted by five young men. Miss Emma MacLenn was in charge and those under her direction were the Misses Bessie Burch, Marguerite Fiffeld, Eloise Fiffeld, Charlotte Charlton, Vernice Ludden, Sara McLenn, Ethel Pond, Bertha Yates, Maude Langdon, Marcia Rogan, Grace
Bailey, Pearl Peters, Hazel Howe, Ray Heyman, Irma Zickler, Adelaide Bullock, Ethel Walker, Florence Maltby and Helen Tracy, and the Messrs.
Perry Strang, Walter Kendall, Arthur Clark, George Butts and Roger Cunningham. During the feast-honorable selections were rendered by the orchestra. The organization has attained a high point of excellence under the direction of D. D. Bennett and the pleasing music was fully appreciated.

Introduction in Verse.
At the close of the banquet Toastmaster H. C. Buell inaugurated the post-prandial program. His opening remarks and his introductions of the speakers were in clever verse, singles prose in laudations of the subjects.
The initial number was an overture, Koler-Bela's "Lustspiel" by the orchestra. Applause demanded an encore and it was given. "The Ladies" were the first to be toasted and despite the committee's suggestion to roast them they were paid many high compliments by the speaker. Ralph H.
Van Cleave. No where in history nor mythology, Grecian or English, could he find the ideal man—the one who in all actions expressed a full appreciation of the gentler sex. Honor was delicately woven into the praise which was bestowed in prettily phrased paragraphs.

Acrobatic Exhibition.
Diversion seems to have been the motto of the program committee. A vocal solo by E. E. Van Pool, sung in his usual pleasing way, was followed by an entertaining acrobatic exhibition. On the programs the number was entitled "Crossing the Bars—male quartet." and interesting feats were performed on the parallel bars by Alfred Griswold, Sterling Campbell, Rollo Dobson and Frank Chase. The agility and ability of the gymnasts surprised all. During the progress of the entertainment Miss Frances Lewis presided at the piano.

"Our Club" Impromptu.
Stanley Woodruff, admitting at the outset that he was scared to death, extemporaneously toasted "Our Club." Briefly reviewing the organization's history, he delved into the society's purpose. His talk was filled with im-is that parasites or

New Discovery and I know that an immense amount of supposed stomach trouble is caused in reality by one of these parasites. A man or woman may be afflicted in this manner for years and not realize the true cause of their suffering. When I first sold Cooper's New Discovery I did not know the medicine would remove this trouble. I have since found that it invariably does so. The following letter is a fair sample of the symptoms as experienced by an individual thus affected:

"I was always tired. My stomach battered and the slightest exertion made me sick, weak, and dizzy. My appetite was variable and a good night's sleep was unknown to me.
When I awoke in the mornings I had a bad taste in my mouth and a coated tongue. I heard of the wonderful benefits that were being derived from Cooper's New Discovery, and decided to try it."

"The horrible tape worm, sixty feet long that had been sapping my life away, passed from my system alive and squirming after I had taken three doses. Now I have a splendid appetite, every trace of stomach trouble has disappeared and my digestion is good. I sleep well and am gaining in strength every day." Nick prompt "hits" and jokes and when completed he was given a "curtain call." Illness prevented Miss Mina Cutter from appearing and her place was filled by Miss Eucata Kimball, who on a last moment's notification without any preparation kindly consented to read. Her selection was "The Fourth Elizabeth" and her finished portrayal of the town gossip discussing the stinky squire's regeneration more than delighted. E. J. Haumerson told the honored guests "what men think of women's clubs." He recited their faults and failures, but considered the clubs worthy organizations that were accomplishing much.

LECTURES SUNDAY
ON IMMIGRATION

Miss Mary E. McDowell, Head of the Chicago University Settlement, will speak at Congregational Church of First Hand Observations in "Packingtown."
The romance and the tragedy of "Packingtown," which lies beyond Chicago's one square mile of Union Stockyards where 30,000 men, women, and children toil, will shine through the lecture which Miss Mary E. Mc-Dowell is to deliver at the Congregational church, Sunday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Society. For eleven years Miss McDowell has been a worker in the Chicago University community which takes in three fourths of the workers in the yards. She is the head of the settlement and what she will have to say in the course of her discussion of "Immigration in Relation to American Life," will be from first-hand observation of the problem of assimilating the Bohemians, Slovaks, Lithuanians, and other alien races to whom the institution she represents is at once guide and counselor, teacher and confidante. It was to Miss McDowell that Upton Sinclair submitted his manuscript of "The Jungle." She says of that book that it is both true and untrue—true in the detail of incidents gathered from many different quarters and epochs in the history of the locality, untrue in the frightful picture it presents when all of these incidents are assembled, under one roof, so to speak, in a single period of time.

Miss McDowell is described as "plump, jolly, blue-eyed, and Scotch."
She is a sister of one of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church and a descendant of General McDowell of Civil War renown. Last December, in company with Miss Jane Addams of the Hull House settlement, she went to Washington to confer with President Roosevelt and Speaker Cannon and urge the passage of a bill giving the chief executive of the nation power to call an international conference to discuss immigration and another measure authorizing the secretary of the commerce and labor bureau to investigate and report on the condition of women and children employed in factories. It is understood that Miss McDowell combats the view of Miss Addams that immigration should not be restricted, that this is a land of the oppressed and that those who come here of their own volition are a benefit to the nation.

As one of the two women delegates to the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor, she attracted favorable attention by her able advocacy of the rights of the working woman, her fight for greater consideration on the part of union men. She is one of the few women who are taking seriously by the labor leaders and this of itself is sufficient evidence that she is one of those practical, persuasive women who do things and not fail-dist. A capable and convincing speaker, her message here Sunday evening should be of particular interest to all and particularly to those who believe that missionary work begins at home.

WADSWORTH IN A BITTER ATTACK

DEFEATED NEW YORK CON-GRESSMAN AT OUTS WITH ROOSEVELT.

THE WASHINGTON LETTER

President's Attitude on Several Matters is Very Clearly Defined by Rulings.

(Special Correspondence.)
Washington, D. C., April 24.—As the outcome of the severe and rather intemperate attack made upon President Roosevelt by ex-Representative Wadsworth, the hand of the administration in New York political affairs is plainly shown. Mr. Wadsworth was chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture and for twenty years represented the Genesee Valley district of New York. When the question of the examination and labeling of meat products was under discussion Mr. Wadsworth became involved in a dispute with the President which resulted in the exchange of several sharp letters.
Previously, when the oleomargarine bill was before congress Mr. Wadsworth was accused of favoring the manufacturers of that table delicacy.
He represented a constituency composed largely of farmers, but managed to weather that storm. When the controversy with the President came, however, his opponents saw a chance to beat him and Peter A. Porter was put up as the candidate of the independent republicans and was also endorsed by the democrats. His emblem on the ticket was a cow and he received the powerful financial support of Frederick A. Stevens, a well known banker of New York and the District of Columbia. Mr. Stevens had himself wished to succeed Mr. Wadsworth but the latter succeeded in having the county wherein Mr. Stevens claimed residence, transferred to another district. While the President did not openly assist Mr. Porter there is little question his sympathies were with him and because of the various reasons outlined Mr. Wadsworth was defeated. At the last session of congress Mr. Wadsworth introduced his letters to the President and undertook to show that his criticisms of certain proposed legislation in connection with the meat inspection were justified by the fact that they had not been enacted and there was no demand for them. This did not tend to restore the entente cordiale between the President and Mr. Wadsworth. About this time the commissions of a number of postmasters in Mr. Wadsworth's district were expiring, and he made recommendations for their reappointment. These were disregarded and those made by Mr. Porter were approved. Then the President called for the resignation of Archie D. Sanders, collector of internal revenue of the Western District of New York. Mr. Sanders was appointed by President McKinley in 1898 and Mr. Wadsworth's recommendation.
This provoked from Mr. Wadsworth a criticism of the President in which he accused him of having turned down postmasters whom the people wanted and in other ways exerted his power to remove from office persons whose sole crime consisted in the fact that they were friends of Mr. Wadsworth.
This, according to Mr. Wadsworth, "stamps the President as unbecoming, a faker and a humbug. For years he has indulged in the lofty sentiments and violates them all for the sake of gratifying a petty spite." The reply to Mr. Wadsworth is that the President is determined to uphold the hands of Governor Hughes in New York and that the removal of Mr. Sanders and the appointment of a successor is his right as President.

Mr. Wadsworth's administration is merely a part of the program. It has also been pointed out at the White House that Mr. Porter is the congressman from district formerly represented by Mr.
Wadsworth and therefore his wishes are to be respected in the matter of appointments rather than those of his predecessor. Naturally enough the differences between Mr. Wadsworth and the President have created the impression that the latter is also hostile toward young Wadsworth, who is speaker of the New York assembly.
It is emphatically denied at the White House that any such hostility exists.
The President did not object to Mr.
Wadsworth as speaker and it is said that when certain friends of Governor Hughes undertook to have Mr. Wad-sworth's administration is merely a part of the program. It has also been

Now, What Do You Want?

If you want what you want
When you want what you want
You want to be never found wanting in sense.
Let the world know your want.
If it's got what you want,
You'll be wanting no longer, and therefore and hence
You are wanting somewhere if you want a thing bad
And won't want your paper to print a WANT AD.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, April 24, 1867.—Liquor Taboo in Beloit.—Much to the dismay and mortification of our whiskey sellers, says the Beloit Journal, our city council at its meeting on Monday evening, refused to grant licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors in the city for the ensuing year. The council stood six for and six against license, and the mayor gave his casting vote promptly against the whole thing.

Trial of the New Peat Machine.—Agreeably to the notice given in the Gazette, the trial of the new peat machine took place at noon at the Badger State Agricultural Works. It was a most gratifying success and demonstrated unmistakably that a machine has at last been invented which is not only simple and cheap, but does the work of grinding peat to perfection. Two or three large loads were ground as fast as two men could shovel it into the hopper, and when the supply of peat was exhausted shavings were thrown in and ground up so fine as to lose their identity. We should be greatly surprised if this machine is not devoted to other purposes, than grinding peat. It looks to us as though the day of wasting shavings and sawdust had passed, and that henceforth, both these articles might not only be made valuable but desirable as fuel.

Another Peat Implement.—It will not be necessary to manufacture all the peat in grinding mills, which is to be used in the country. Much the larger portion of it will be put up in much the same manner as has been the custom in Ireland and Germany for many centuries past, that is, cut up in long, narrow chunks and stacked up to dry. This should be done in the months of May and June and the peat will be ready for use the following winter. Any common laborer can do this and there is no more mystery about it than stacking up a garden. It is only necessary to have the proper instrument, and that is found in what the Irish term a slane, which is somewhat like a narrow spade with one side turned up for cutting out the corners of the slice of peat. Mr. J. W. Allen has had some of these instruments made at the Badger State Works, under his own supervision, and as he knows about them from actual experience, no doubt they are of the proper form and construction. They are quite inexpensive and if peat is to become the fuel of the northwest, this simple instrument will come into extensive use. They can be obtained at the Badger State Works.

AMERICAN RAILWAYS

The London Statist, one of the ablest and most impartial financial journals in the world, recently reviewed the American railway situation, covering the ground with an exhaustive statement of history and existing conditions.

The fact is not always recognized that England has furnished many hundreds of millions of dollars for railway construction in the United States, and is therefore financially interested in their success.

The prosperity of the United States is regarded of great value to the nations of the world.

There is a third important reason for the interest we take in American affairs, and for our desire to witness the continued prosperity of a country that promises to be the greatest, the wealthiest, and the most powerful that has ever existed.

The very great development of the wealth of the United States is enabling that country to maintain a very rapidly increasing population, and is permitting over a million persons a year to escape from the pressure of poverty in Europe to a land where they can find comfortable homes, as much work as they can perform, and where they can earn a relatively large income.

A check to the prosperity of the United States would mean a check to immigration, and thus increase the pressure for existence, which is so keenly felt in many parts of Europe.

Thus, first, from the point of view of international trade and international prosperity; second, from that of our own prosperity; and, third, from the standpoint of humanity, we hope that no unnecessary and violent check to trade will occur in the United States.

There is no doubt that the railway industry has contributed more than any other to the great increase in the prosperity in the United States that has occurred in the last eight years.

In the first place, methods of transportation were so greatly improved that the railways were able to convey over twice as much traffic without the necessity for any large capital expenditure for over ten years.

The importance of this one factor cannot easily be exaggerated. The progress of any country is governed—first, by the amount of capital which is available for extending its industries, and second, by the growth of its population, especially when caused by immigration.

The new capital has to be devoted—first, to providing the additional works needed to increase the output of wealth, and secondly, to supplying all the houses, buildings, plants and works of every kind called for by a growing population increasing in wealth.

The provision of adequate transport facilities is a matter of the first necessity. In this country about 7 per cent of the growing wealth is devoted to railway construction and equipment.

But the United Kingdom is a group of small islands, and our transport needs are largely provided by shipping.

Speaking of government ownership, the Statist says:

"There is of course much to be said for parliamentary control as practiced in this country, the effect of which is to protect the debenture stockholders and to prevent indiscriminate competition. But the American people would not for one moment submit to the pooling arrangements as practiced here, and the formidable and effective opposition which English railway companies present to new and competitive projects. And if railway companies in the United States are forced to compete actively one with the other, then they should be permitted to retain their power to raise new capital how and when they are able to do so, and for whatever purpose, provided the capital is not raised for the restraint of trade—in other words, to prevent competition."

"The advantages from a given policy can only be realized by its fruits. And are not the fruits of the past railway policy of the United States the envy of the whole world? Where have better results been obtained from the capital expended, not only in actual miles of railway, and in the quantity, capacity, and effectiveness of the equipment, but also in the low charges for the carriage of traffic?"

The article is timely and coming from the conservative mother country, is worthy of careful consideration.

Experiments are now being made with gasoline engines which promise to revolutionize the fuel question on ocean liners and sea-going craft. In the Engineering Magazine for May Lewis Nixon announces that the gas engine is already adopted for heavy marine service. Ten torpedo boats of 35 tons displacement and 20 knots speed have been built, and one of them has been run across the Atlantic in winter gales. Designs are complete for a destroyer of 625 tons and 12,000 horsepower, and for a scout of 1,800 tons and 30,000 horsepower, with an endurance of 3,000 miles at 30 knots. In the space and on the weight of 45,000 horsepower as installed on a modern liner could be placed 100,000 horsepower in gas engines, with a crude oil gas producer, the consumption being 750 tons of oil a day. And the argument for the progress is the great commercial economy and the relief of the engine-room force from the present "pitiable conditions" which have long been looked upon as necessary evils.

The drygoods merchants of Minneapolis say that business was never better than today, especially in fine goods usually considered luxuries. They claim that manufacturers of this class of goods, as well as importers, are badly behind on orders, while the railroads take their own time on delivery. Some of the merchants in North Dakota are just receiving their Christmas goods, four months overdue. The back order business today is the rule, and not the exception, and where it represents a large volume of business, as is now the case, it results in abnormal conditions and demoralizes trade.

There will be a number of disappointed candidates when the senatorial contest is over and more or less had blood engendered. Inasmuch as only one man can be elected the candidates would do well to get together and come to a mutual agreement. The contest is becoming a little monotonous to people around the state.

What has happened to the third ward petition for a new schoolhouse? The old high school building is a disgrace to the city, and so unsanitary as to be a constant menace to parents. The rooms are poorly ventilated, and some of them so poorly lighted that they can not be used with safety. The ward needs a modern school building, and is entitled to it.

The number of national banks has increased from 3,631 in 1900 to 6,244 and deposits have increased over $2,000,000,000. This expansion is due largely to the establishing of this class of banks in the towns and inland cities. They are popular with the people as a national bank seldom fails.

An engine with a defective tire was sent out of New York, the other night, and succeeded in breaking seventeen rails during the night run, and yet people wonder why railway accidents are so common.

The average maple tree yields four pounds of sugar, and 5,000,000 trees are tapped annually. That ought to help some in supplying the country with the genuine article.

PRESS COMMENT

Big Premium on Ugliness.
Chicago News: A Chicago woman paid $1100 for a highly meritorious bulldog. This teaches little children, that beauty is not everything.

Undeniably.
Green Bay Gazette: The island of Yap has been swept by a damaging typhoon. Judging from the word that must be a German possession.

A Pair of Tough Riddles.
Milwaukee Sentinel: The New World's question, "What is a democrat?" is causing as much perplexity as the other question, "What is whisky?"

Sees Fine Italian Hand.
Berlin Journal: The Commemorative Bryan's paper, booms La Follette for the presidential nomination. Billy wants to get Bob off the lecture platform, perhaps.

The Public Again Fools Bill.
Madison Democrat: Barbers are raising the price of a shave 23 per cent. But state barbers' boards and inspectors and examiners we must have whatever the cost.

Learning from the Cubans.
New York Herald: Our Cuban wards can teach us a thing or two. Down there they arm a baseball umpire with a revolver and the "fans" are so quiet that one can hear a foul tip in the farthestmost bleachers.

Growing Real Fastidious.
Chicago Tribune: Not only are some persons particular as to the quality of milk they use, but once in a while an unreasonable man makes a fuss if he happens to see dried particles of tobacco on the pasteboard stoppers of the bottle that is left on his back porch.

Still He Seems to Enjoy It.
Stoughton Hub: * * * George Grassie is a saucy Milwaukee newspaper man who broke into the legislature last fall. He has no business there—or rather, if there were more like him there, the legislature would accomplish better things. Grassie is in congenial company and he knows it.

Senatorship Contrasting Views.
Grassie in Evening Wisconsin: It's funny to contrast the senatorial situation as viewed at Madison and the senatorial situation as viewed in Milwaukee. Nine out of every ten men you meet in Milwaukee believe that Stephenson is going to win out. That isn't the talk in Madison, so far as I have been able to discover.

Let Us Pat Ourselves.
Marion Advertiser: * * * The reason for the enormous newspaper circulation in America is because there is no other country in the world that has so many people who can read them, and the reason advanced for them knowing how to read is that there is no other country in the world that maintains the magnificent school system that America does.

Just One Objection.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Mr. Bryan has commenced to use his paper, the Commoner, to boom La Follette for the presidency. And the only real objection to this plan is that he wants the republicans to make the nomi-tion, instead of appealing to the democrats, for whom the Commoner was founded, and among whom it circulates for the most part.

Are All for Roosevelt.
Green Bay Gazette: In spite of his former vigorous declarations to the effect that he would under no circumstances be a candidate it looks more every day as though Roosevelt would be forced to accept another nomination for president. Nine-tenths of the republicans of the country would today vote for his nomination were they satisfied that he would accept the other tenth being would-be candidates and their personal friends, the politicians.

Nothing Modest About Collins.
Chicago Chronicle: As a general thing the standard of civic morals is much higher in small places than large. In Chicago ex-Chief Collins had the cheek to call on Chief Shipley, and ask for an appointment as captain. In Milwaukee the chief of police has just written a letter to the mayor asking the mayor to suspend him and investigate him. The only charge against him is, he says, "lese-majeste," but his feelings are so sensitive that he can not permit it to go unnoticed. There are few officials of that kind in Chicago.

Lawson Shocks the British.
The Fourth Estate: Thomas W. Lawson's novel, "Friday the Thirteenth," has been advertised in England by methods characteristic of its author. He scandalized the conservative and well-regulated critics by offering $5,000 apiece for the best two reviews of his work. The British editors say that this is a flagrant and unblushing attempt to buy the judgments of reviewers and that nothing like it can be found in the history of literature. This, they say, is what must be expected when millionaires take to writing novels.

Helen Gould's Latest Good Deed.
Exchange: Miss Helen M. Gould is the hitherto unknown philanthropist who purchased 100,000 acres of land near Greeley, Colo., at a cost of $350,000, to be subdivided for homes for poor persons from New York tenements. Another $100,000 will be spent for farm implements, seed and fencing. Beneficiaries will be allowed to make any payments, if they are diligent, but the title will be held out. There will be a corps of agricultural and sanitary instructors, a library and reading room and pleasant grounds. There will be no requirements as to religion. Dairying and poultry-raising will receive most attention at the start.

Unwritten Law Defined.
Two Rivers Chronicle: It is a belief in and a holy reverence for the unwritten law that all our courts of equity rest upon. It is the unwritten law that compels us to place in the scales upheld by the blindfolded goddess such immaterial things as mental qualities and soul characteristics, as well as material facts, and to ascertain their correct weight or influence. For justice, full and complete justice, can only be had where those subtle influences are felt that are drawn from the ethical fields in which the soul is supreme and things material are regarded of secondary importance.

So Much Depends.
Milwaukee Free Press: The "beauty contests," by which means a number of Sunday newspapers have been seeking to increase their circulations, have had their run. It was bound to be short, and after two or three special "beauty" issues, to fall on the public mind.

There has been no "beauty" contest about it, but a contest among photographers to see which could make the best photographs for reproduction in the Sunday newspapers.

The "contest" is to be decided by "judges," and from the photographs, and not from the "beauties" who sit for them. Could the subjects be gathered together and judged, as prize animals are judged, in a county or state fair, there would be some interest attaching to it.

F. R. A. Social Dance: East Side Odd Fellows' hall was well filled for the Fraternal Reserve Association's social dance last evening. The festivities began at nine in the evening and lasted till one, music being furnished by Roy Carter's orchestra. A similar party will be arranged for the near future.

Mrs. Anna Randall McKenney: The funeral of the late Mrs. Anna Randall McKenney was held from her late residence on Ruger avenue this afternoon at two-thirty.

The interment was at Oak Hill cemetery. The pallbearers were E. D. McGowan, Geo. Simpson, William Ruger, Jr., George Chase, R. M. Bostwick, Jr., and Charles Stevens. Rev. J. W. McKinney of Christ church officiated.

Attorney E. C. Eastman of Marinette was in Janesville this morning.

Pure Imported French Olive Oil

CHATEAU NEUF

The demand for an absolutely pure Olive Oil has become so urgent that it is with pleasure we announce the receipt of a large invoice of "Chateau Neuf" Imported French Oil from the American importer, Alfred Wright of New York.

A GUARANTEED PURE OIL.

There are many Olive Oils offered and many are sold as pure. We have personally and thoroughly investigated many of the so-called "Pure Oils" and refused them because they lacked in essential qualities.

"Chateau Neuf" is a French oil distinctively above any olive oil we know of. It is made from the compressed fruit only of France. The seed or stone is eliminated. The oil from this forms a part of most other so-called pure oils. The fact that it is French oil is of importance. It is of higher refining than the Italian or other oils; is made from selected fruit; has more body and is richer in quality. This oil costs us 75c per gallon more than oils offered us as pure, yet we pin our faith to "Chateau Neuf" and sell it at the same price you pay for Olive Oil inferior to it. "Chateau Neuf" is put up in any size package. 75c per pint, $1.25 quart.

We want you to try it and if not exactly as we represent it, bring it back.

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES

SCENE FROM THE FIRST ACT OF "FORTY-FIVE MINUTES FROM BROADWAY" HERE FRIDAY NIGHT.

Geo. M. Cohan, who is now conceded to be the most popular and successful of all American playwrights, has done much of late to confirm this conviction. No play from his pen has more firmly clinched his popularity than "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," which enjoyed a remarkably successful run last season of an entire year, divided between New York and Chicago. It is now making a short road tour under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger, with a specially selected cast headed by Corinne, one of the most famous singing comedienne on the American stage.

"Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" is a novelty and quite original from the fact that it is not a performance of a distinctive character except in its own field, as the author has very cleverly interwoven into it comedy, drama, melodrama, musical comedy and farce, thereby creating a musical play possessing ginger and a quickness of action seldom seen in a performance. In the construction of this Mr. Cohan has shown that he had convictions and the strength of mind to carry them out.

The story of the piece is splendidly told by Corinne, who plays the role of Mary, the housemaid, aided by the clever company with which Klaw & Erlanger have surrounded her. The piece is staged in three acts. The scenes represent the exterior of the Castleman mansion at New Rochelle in the morning, the drawing-room in the evening, and the railroad station the next morning. The opposite character to that acted by Corinne is Kid Burns, a young man who has become very worldly wise through long experience on Broadway, and who expresses a most practical philosophy in piquant slang. This character is acted by Scott Welsh. He proves a splendid foil for Corinne's clever acting in the role of Mary, which requires her to display in several situations considerable emotional ability. Her portrayal of this character has proved a great surprise to her many admirers, who, through her long connection with comic opera and extravaganza had become imbued with the ideas that she could not play to advantage a character having a serious side. The engagement in this city Friday, April 26, at the Myers theatre of this now famous attraction has already attracted unusual attention.

GIVES MILLION TO EDUCATE NEGROES

AGED QUAKERESS MAKES BIG DONATION FOR SOUTH.

IS FOR RURAL SCHOOLS

Booker T. Washington and Hollis Burke Frissell Are Named as Trustees of the Educational Fund.

Philadelphia, April 24.—A gift of $1,000,000 for the establishment of a fund for rudimentary schools for southern negroes was announced here Tuesday night. The donor is Miss Anne T. Jeanes, a Quakeress of this city.

Booker T. Washington, head of Tuskegee Institute, and Hollis Burke Frissell, president of the Hampton Normal and Industrial Institute, are named as trustees of the fund, but neither of the institutions they represent will share in the gift. The income of the million dollars is to be used for the sole purpose of assisting in the "southern United States community, country and rural schools for the great class of negroes to whom the small rural and community schools are alone available.

The deed of gift was executed Monday, and in it Mr. Washington and Mr. Frissell are empowered to appoint a board of trustees in connection with the fund. The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities of this city will act as fiscal agent for the trustees.

Is for Rudimentary Schools.

Miss Jeanes, the donor, is about 80 years of age, and of an old and wealthy family that has been prominent for more than a century in the Society of Friends. She has long been interested in the welfare of the negro and has been a contributor to institutions for their education. She has known Mr. Washington for a decade.

In transferring the million dollars to the trustees, Miss Jeanes says: "Trusting and believing in the practicable and far-reaching good that may result from the moral and elevating influence of rural schools for negroes in the southern states, taught by reputable teachers, I do hereby appoint Booker T. Washington, of Tuskegee, Ala., and Hollis B. Frissell, of Hampton, Va., and their successors in the trust appointed and created as hereinafter directed, the trustees of an endowment fund in perpetuity of $1,000,000, which is hereby created, to be known as 'the fund for rudimentary schools for southern negroes.' The income thereof shall be devoted to the sole purpose of assisting in the southern United States community, country and rural schools for the great class of negroes to whom the small rural and community schools are alone available."

Statement by Trustees.

In a statement signed by Booker T. Washington and Hollis Burke Frissell, they say: "While we cannot speak definitely, we feel quite sure that it will be the aim of the trustees of this fund to work in hearty sympathy and close cooperation with the county and state officers in assisting schools, and it will be the policy of the trustees to use the interest of this fund in a way to stimulate self-help and not replace local schools, but to supplement the money being appropriated by southern states toward the education of the negro."

"We think we cannot too emphatically state that not one cent of this money will go to help the Hampton Normal and Industrial Institute, nor to the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, and will in no way relieve the needs of these institutions. Every cent will go toward helping the rural schools, according to Miss Jeanes' wish and directions."

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

An old sore or ulcer is only a symptom, an outlet for the impurities and poisons which are circulating in the blood, and as long as this vital fluid remains in this impure and contaminated state the place will never heal. It may scab over and appear to be getting well, but a fresh outpouring of diseased matter from the blood starts it again, and thus it goes on, sometimes for years, continually growing worse, and slowly sapping away the strength and vitality of the sufferer.

There are many ways by which the blood may become contaminated and poisoned. A long spell of fever, or other sickness, breeds disease germs in the system, the failure of nature's eliminative members to remove the waste and refuse matter of the body, the excessive use of minerals in certain diseases, all infect the blood with morbid matter and germs, which sooner or later manifest their presence by a sore or ulcer which refuses to heal under the ordinary treatment of salves, washes, lotions, powders, etc. A boil, blister, pimple, burn or even a slight scratch, often develops into a festering or discharging ulcer if the system is run down or the blood depreciated from any cause.

Persons with an inherited blood taint are very apt to be afflicted with sores and ulcers. Being born with an unhealthy blood supply, the different parts of the body are never fully nourished, and when middle life is reached or passed and the vigor and strength of the system begins to weaken and wane, the tissues in some weak point break down and a chronic sore or ulcer is formed, and kept open by the constant drainage of impure matter from the blood. How aggravating and stubborn an old sore can be is best known by those who have nursed and treated one for years, applying salves, washes, powders, etc., with no good results. The place remains and continues to grow worse by eating deeper into the surrounding flesh, festering, discharging, sometimes throbbing with pain, and gradually undermining the constitution by its unhealthy action on the system.

It is a great mistake to expect to cure these places with external applications. True this treatment assists in keeping the parts clean, and are beneficial in this way, but do not reach the real trouble which is in the blood. The practice of cutting out the diseased parts and even scraping the bone beneath, is often resorted to, but these severe measures seldom do any permanent good. The sore may be removed, and for a time heal over, but the same poison that produced it the first time is still in the blood, because The Blood Cannot Be Cut Away, and The Sore Will Return.

S.S.S.

PURELY VEGETABLE

The only treatment that can do any real good is a competent blood purifier—one that goes to the very bottom of the trouble and removes the cause, and for this purpose nothing has ever been found to equal S. S. S. It goes down into the circulation, drives out all poison and morbid matter, reduces the inflammation, and by sending pure, rich blood to the diseased parts, instead of feeding them with impurities, allows the sore to heal naturally and permanently. Not only does S. S. S. purify the blood of all poisons and germs, but builds it up from its weakened and impoverished state, making it strong and healthy and able to supply every part of the body with sufficient and proper nourishment to keep it in perfect health. If you have a sore that is slow in healing, do not depend upon external applications alone, nor experiment with unknown medicines, but begin the use of S. S. S., and by removing every vestige of the cause, cure the trouble permanently. Special book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.
